

PREA Annual Report

2022

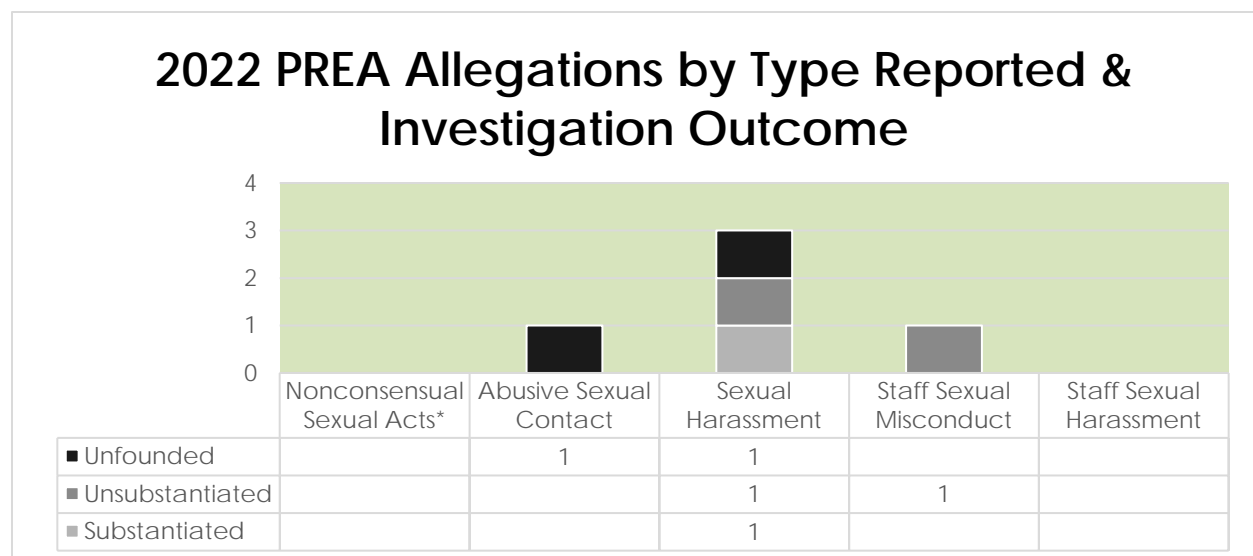

Corrections Center of Northwest Ohio

INTRODUCTION

In 2003, Congress passed the Prison Rape Elimination Act under the presidency of George W. Bush. Years of extensive research, analysis, and collaboration developed into the PREA standards set forth to implement change into prison and jail systems across the country. The Corrections Center of Northwest Ohio, more commonly known as CCNO, has been a proponent of this movement since its introduction. PREA §115.88 calls each agency to assess their internal processes regarding sexual abuse prevention, detection, and response. Essentially, it is up to each correctional operation to ensure their policies are effective in deterring and responding to instances of sexual abuse if and/or when they happen. Outlined in this report is CCNO's self-assessment on how to increase our effectiveness related to correctional sexual abuse.

DATA

Attached to this report, and also available on CCNO's website, are the PREA-related allegations and the outcomes of each investigation. CCNO saw a total of six (6) reports in 2022: one (1) inmate non-consensual sexual act*, one (1) inmate abusive sexual contact, three (3) inmate sexual harassment, and one (1) staff sexual misconduct. Although sexual harassment is included in the table, the focus of the annual report is on sexual abuse. As noted, there were six (6) sexual abuse allegations in 2022; this number is down five allegations from 2021. Through investigations, it was found that two were unfounded, two were unsubstantiated, and one was substantiated. The non-consensual sexual act allegation is still an open investigation by the Williams County Sheriff's Office. The type of sexual abuse alleged more commonly involved inappropriate touching or voyeurism as opposed to non-consensual sexual acts, or rape as most easily understood.

The facility has undergone several surveillance upgrades to increase security throughout the years, and the use as well as review capability of the cameras has proven highly effective in deterring, detecting, and investigating PREA allegations. Security surveillance is consistently assessed for necessary additions at CCNO.

CORRECTIVE ACTION

After any sexual abuse investigation that is found to be either substantiated or unsubstantiated, PREA standards require an incident review meeting to discuss any corrective measures. A thorough evaluation of several aspects of each incident is conducted during these meetings. Upper-level management as well as representatives from key departments are present to provide insight in their respective areas regarding each investigation.

There were no substantiated or unsubstantiated incidents of sexual abuse in 2022.

CONCLUSION

The data reviewed for 2022 was of typical substance for CCNO historically. The number of allegations had decreased by five from the prior year and the investigations concluded that CCNO was compliant in response. Trends for reporting are difficult to predict, and 2022 data may not be indicative of what will emerge in 2023.

Despite the difficulty in predicting future trends, we can see that there has been significant reduction in allegations since 2018. Mechanisms for consistency in responding, retaliation monitoring, and documenting that had been implemented continue to prove helpful throughout 2022. Continued and increased training for staff and contractors is recognized as a successful deterrent for sexual abuse and harassment as well as furthering education on detection and response to PREA-related events. CCNO is committed to perpetual evaluation of our processes in order to assess weaknesses, make improvements, and implement necessary changes to remain compliant with PREA standards.
